Revell's Car Stolen By Desperadoes

Highway Patrolmen believe the "bad man" who visited Grenada Tuesday night is the same as the desperado who resisted arrest near Holly Springs recently.

Car thieves, believed to have been bad men, who are being hunted in several states, were successful in driving T. B. Revell's car away from its parking place at his home Tuesday night. The car was recovered early the following morning, six miles east of Calhoun City because the gasoline supply had fortunately been scant, and was exhausted at that point.

Officers feel certain that Revell's car was taken by men who had abandoned another stolen car near the McLean Apartments Tuesday night. That car had been stolen in Alabama. Its gasoline tank had run dry also.

Following their apparent custom, a Ford 1937 model was taken in Calhoun City to take the place of the Revell car with its exhausted gasoline tank.

Through some mishap, or frustration on the part of night officers who spied the parked Alabama car, which had been stolen, the occupants left both a shotgun and a high-powered rifle. The car had been driven a thousand miles since it was stolen, officers said.

Mr. Revell was promptly notified of the whereabouts of his car early today, when a farmer found it by the roadside and read Revell's name on a service station's sale ticket. It so happened that this man was acquainted with Mr. Revell.

Indications were that the first attempt at car theft every in Grenada was at the home of J. T. Thomas, on Main, near the place of the first abandoned car. The Thomas garage had been broken into, and there were other signs of an attempted car theft.

Similar reports also come from the home of Van Gum.

The theft of Revell's car was successful only after the wires had been cut so that it would be possible to wire around the switch. The dash lights and panel instruments could not have operated, after the wires had been mutilated as they were, Revell said.

Federal Bureau of Investigation men came to Grenada today to pick up the trail of the men whom they believed to be robbers.

GORE SPRINGS H. D. CLUB MET DEC 14TH

On Wednesday, December 14th the Gore Springs Home Demonstration Club held its regular monthly meeting in the Home Ec building with 19 members and two visitors present. Meeting was called to order by singing "Silent Night." Devotional reading by Mrs. George Chamberlain, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated and roll call, each member answered with what they would have Santa bring them.

Plans were made to have a Christmas tree for the club on Thursday night, December 23rd.

The nutrition leaders gave a report of the program planning day.

Topics were read how Christmas in other states were observed by Mesdames Howard James, Earl Tharpe, Calvin Clanton, Sam Gillon, Billie Schultz, Irving Gray, Annie Tharpe, Guy James, G. E. Chamberlain, Guy Fite, and D. M. Trussell. One new member was added to the club.

Mesdames D. M. Trussell and Annie Tharpe served cake and coffee. Meeting adjourned.

Auditors Seek Lost Millions

By EARL B. STEELE

NEW YORK, Dec. 21. — Federal investigators summoned 20 more officers of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., today, convinced that some of them must have known something was wrong with the $86,500,000 drugs firm during the 10 years it was bossed by Philip Musica, a swindling ex-convict.

The investigation so far had disclosed that although the manipulations of the four Musica brothers had cost McKesson and Robbins $21,000,000, the brothers actually got away with only about $3,000,000, and they apparently lost most of that in Wall Street during the depression. Very little of value could be found among their possessions, which were all impounded.

It developed also that Philip Musica, master Swindler of the family, had been toying desperately with munitions, bootlegging, and possibly narcotics and racketeering schemes in hopes of recouping enough to avoid being forced to the wall before he, posing as F. Donald Coster, man of culture and letters, organizer and industrialist, was unmasked and trapped. He failed and killed himself last week.

A man who apparently has known all along of Coster-Musica's true identity, and who has been in the background of the fantastic case since both he and Coster-Musica were implicated in a 1914 chicken racket was taken through the police lineup today and charged with "conspiracy to violate a United States law."

He was Benjamin Simon, who was on the McKesson-Robbins payroll at $6,000 a year. He was arrested last night at the address listed in false birth records filed for the Musica brothers at Washington, D. C., as being the home of "Adele Virnard, midwife," who supposedly attended their births. Actually, Philip Musica was born in Italy in 1877.

Federal and state investigations had failed so far to turn up anyone connected with the drugs firm who had been suspicious of what was going on. Four directors testified before the State Fraud Bureau yesterday that Coster-Musica was so highly regarded in financial and drugs circles and that he had so dominated and concealed the crude drugs department where the swindle was made, that they had no cause to suspect him.

Two federal investigations are under way, before a grand jury and the Securities and Exchange Commission. Brien McMahon assistant United Attorney, directing the work of seven federal departments, said that dissension was breaking out among McKesson and Robbins officials that might induce some of them to talk.

Despite the fact that new evidence was turned up indicating that Coster-Musica tried in vain to sell up to 2,000,000 Lee-Enfield army rifles and 2,000,000,000 rounds of ammunition to China or to Mexico, James J. Caffrey, regional SEC administrator, doubted that these were any more wild ideas of the swindler.

Argentina Blocks Hull's Plans

By HOBART C. MONTEE

United Press Correspondent

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 21. — Argentina disclosed to the eighth Pan-American conference today a "Formula Americana" revising Secretary of State Cordell Hull's proposal for a declaration of continental solidarity.

Argentina had rejected any sweeping declaration of continental solidarity in the face of extra-American aggression, and it was understood that the Argentine delegation had been instructed from Buenos Aires not to alter its position.

The Argentine position virtually had deadlocked the conference on its most important business and the next move appeared up to Hull. There were indications he might have something to say today.

The proposal, as revised and being worked out for circulation among the delegates, was announced by Dr. Isidoro Ruiz Moreno, leader of the Argentine delegation, after a long conference with Foreign Minister Carlos Concha of Peru and Dr. Afranio de Mello Franco of Brazil, who acted as mediators on Hulls proposition.

The provisions of the new proposal were not revealed by Ruiz Moreno, but he indicated that Argentina, Peru and Brazil would consult with the representative governments before putting it before the conference.

The revised proposal superseded a compromise which had been drawn up by Peru and Brazil. It would have bound the 21 Pan-American republics to present a united front against aggression by either an American or a non-American nation. It called for united action also against other activities such as political penetration which might impair the national ins[illegible]ons of the republics.

After work in the local hospital, they left by separate doors, got into their cars and started for home. Dr. Pook turned to the right and Dr. Munro to the left. Both traveled a block and then crashed into each other.

Doctor Govt. Row Begins

By G. W. STEWART, Jr.

United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The federal government and the American Medical Association today began a fight to the finish over the issue of cooperative medicine.

Legal experts predicted that grand jury indictments against the American Medical Association, three of its affiliates and 21 individuals was the signal for a long court battle which may last a year or longer.

At stake are the deep-rooted, conservative policies of the medical association—the powerful voice of thousands of doctors of medicine throughout the cuntry—and the future of group, or cooperative, health movements — a relatively new system of providing medical care on a prepayment basis.

Specifically, the grand jury charged that the American Medical Association, the District of Columbia Medical Society and many members and officers of both, violated federal anti-trust statutes in "obstructing" and "hindering" the growth of Group Health Association, Inc., a cooperative organized by government employes to provide care for themselves and fam-

4-H CLUB BOYS STUDYING FEEDS FOR LIVESTOCK

The 4-H Club boys this month have been studying feeds for livestock and types of self feeders most commonly used. They have used in their meetings blue prints of hog feeders, and one miniature feeder made from cigar boxes. This miniature feeder which is weather proof gives the boys an idea how to make a feeder and how it works.

One of the cheapest self feeders the boys have learned to make is one made from a gasoline drum, a mowing machine wheel and a small platform. Both ends of the drum are cut out and is then placed inside of the rim of the wheel. This is then fastened to the platform and is ready for use. This type self feeder is only for temporary use and has to be protected from the weather.

Hogs and mules are the most sensible animals on a farm about eating. If given a chance they will balance their own ration. Hogs can be raised cheap by letting them do their own work in gathering and harvesting their food by way of self feeders and good pastures. This is the way farmers raise hogs when they make money out of them.

Assistant County Agen.

Actress Unaware Of Father's Death

By HARRY FERGUSON

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Mary Martin did a gay dance across the stage, winked her left eye and sang out in a strong voice—"My heart belongs to daddy."

It was a saucy, funny song and those of us on the other side of the Imperial Theater's footlights applauded her. But we didn't applaud as long or as loud as we would have liked to, for we knew something she didn't know.

We knew daddy was dead.

He was dead in Weatherford, Texas, a thousand miles or so away—the father of this girl who is the toast of the [illegible] along the belt of bright lights [illegible] way. And as soon as the news came ticking over the wires from Texas that Preston Martin was dead we in the audience and all members of the cast of the Musical Comedy "leave it to me" entered into a conspiracy of silence against Mary Martin.

We conspired to keep the news from her until she could sing once more "My heart belongs to daddy." And she sang it in her usual light-hearted way, never suspecting that the last editions of the afternoon papers carrying the news of her father's death, had been barred from the theater. Never knowing that every time Victor Moore or Sophie Tucker or William Gaxton sent a joke crackling at her across the stage that their hearts were as heavy as her's would be three minutes after the curtain fell.

So, tossing her red hair and laughing, she gave the song all she had and the words went:

"While tearing off a game of golf
I may make a play for the caddy.
But when I do, I don't follow through
'Cause my heart belongs to daddy."

Once every year or so an unknown star blazes over Broadway. Once it was Ethel Merman, once it was Joan Bennett, and once, long ago, it was Ethel Barrymore. This year it was Mary Martin. They knew so little about her when she entered the cast of "Leave It to Me" that the program gives her only five lines in "Who's Who in the Cast," but on opening night she sent them out to the sidewalks cheering with "My heart belongs to Daddy." The world, which had been a harsh, cold place the day before, became rosy and warm for Mary Martin. Wealth and fame were on her doorstep and there was no bad news anywhere. Not bad news until yesterday when her father died.

Plan Sign For City Proper

Members of committees from the American Legion, Lions and Rotary Clubs met at H. C. Wilson's barber shop last night and planned for the erection of a large neon sign indicating to traffi con 51 how to reach the city proper.

Tentative plans are for the erection of the sign over the crossing of Highway 8—a large arrow outlined with neon tubing and bearing the word "Grenada."

Novel Uses for Xmas Cranberries

Eat your cranberries and have them too by following the old-fashioned custom of using the bright winter-time fruit for Christmas decorations. In the sketch shown above, the modern design of the little silver tree makes a unique background for the string of bright colored berries wound round and round it. Cranberries are also used with chunks of orange and marshmallows as a garnish around the turkey, while the silver sauce boat contains the traditional 10-minute cranberry sauce, an indispensable part of the American holiday dinner since earliest Puritan days.

The tree of silver cardboard is not too complicated for the older children to fashion, while the littlest tots will squeal with pleasure if allowed to string the bright colored berries into a long chain. A good stout thread with a not-too-thick needle will keep the youngsters occupied for an entire afternoon and provide a novel touch to the table decorations.

The tangy taste of Cranberry Juice Cocktail will sharpen that before-dinner appetite while its rich red color will further enhance the festive feeling of the day. Mock Strawberry Shortcake is novel enough to be an exciting holiday dessert. Cranberry Muffins, Cranberry Cookies—all add that extra zest which makes the holiday meals so memorable.

CRANBERRY JUICE COCKTAIL

1 pound (4 cups) Cranberries
4 cups water
⅔ cup sugar

Cook cranberries and water until all the skins pop open. Strain through cheesecloth. Heat, add sugar and boil for 2 minutes. Chill before serving. Lemon, orange, grapefruit or pineapple juice, ginger ale or other beverages combine well with this cocktail.

MOCK STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

1 cup chopped Cranberries
1 cup chopped tart apple
¼ cup crushed pineapple
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup cream, whipped
Baking Powder Biscuits or Sponge Cake Layers

Combine cranberries, apple, pineapple, sugar and salt and let stand for 2-3 hours. Arrange shortcake fashion on hot biscuits or sponge cake layers. Top with whipped cream.

Mock Strawberry Pie—Bake above mixture in double crust pie.

CRANBERRY MUFFINS

1 cup Cranberries
½ cup sugar
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted butter

Chop cranberries and sprinkle with half the sugar. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and remaining sugar together. Beat egg slightly, combine with milk and melted butter and add to dry ingredients. Stir only until blended. Then fold in cranberries. Transfer to buttered muffin pans and bake in hot oven, 425°F., about 25 minutes. Make 12 medium sized muffins.

CRANBERRY COOKIES

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup ten-minute Cranberry Sauce, drained of juice

Cream shortening and sugar together, add egg, dry ingredients, and vanilla. Chill dough. Roll out very thin, shape with round cutter. Place 1 tablespoon Cranberry Sauce on half the rounds, top with remaining rounds with centers removed. Bake in moderate oven, 375°F., 10-15 minutes.

The White Brother

By Clarence Hawkes
(The Blind Poet of Hadley)

If I sing an old, old story
Of the Lord at Christmas-time,
Of His majesty and glory
And the love that is sublime,
It is for the nations' healing
All around the troubled earth,
For the White Christ still is kneeling
Praying for a higher birth.

On the battlefield of Asia
You may see Him come and go
Where the bloodlust kills all pleasure
And there's nothing left but woe.
He is lifting up the smitten,
Holding them upon His breast.
Whom the war dogs sore have bitten,
In His bosom will find rest.

From old Europe, proud with culture,
Comes a war scare with each breath,
Overhead the circling vulture—
In the trenches, sudden death.
Still the voice of Christ entreating
God to stay the holocaust
Where the waves of war are beating,
And the god they trust is force.

Brothers mine, in this dear nation,
Let us guard our firesides well
Lest we bow to this commotion—
To this pageantry of hell.
Only God and His compassion
Can safeguard us from our fate.
Let us pray, with deep emotion,
That with love we'll conquer hate.

Let us heed the White Christ's pleading
And his message from the Lord,
E'er our nation's heart is bleeding
From some swift invading horde.
Hearts are strong, as they are holy.
Man is great, as God is great.
So this Christmas, trusting wholly,
Let us calmly watch and wait.

(The poem, says Mr. Hawkes, was inspired by the World War legend of the White Brother, a compassionate figure the wounded saw bending over them in trenches. This ministering angel was called the White Brother, or Christ.)

As We Celebrate Christ's Birthday

(Contributed)

As we elebrate Christ's Birthday let us realize fully, woman's responsibility in this mad world of today.

When God created man, as you know, that was His masterpiece. When you stand in awe before the wonder of the world you realize how wonderful and powerful God is—yet, nothing created can equal man with his mind and soul. "God saw that it was good." The next wonder was when He sent His own son to us in the form of man. There may have been a man on earth pure enough to be the father of Jesus, but, we do know there was a woman who was pure enough t obe his mother. By this woman was so honored as they have never been before or since. We should realize the full meaning of this in that we passess the Holy Temple in which God creates His masterpiece, and that it should not be desecrated or defiled in any way. When you are wondering what the sin of the Holy Ghost is, I think it could easily be applied to this sin. When woman thinks that she can get even with man to the extent of defiling the Holy Temple, she is losing, not only the full purpose she was created for, but her only power over man. She is put up on a pedestal and worshiped as long as she possesses the weapons of modesty and virtue. When these are gone she is left with nothing to stand on.

This world and all that is within it was made for man (and how well most of them know it.) It is a man's world, but do not resent it, God never makes a mistake. We can have the world at our feet if we live in the way that God intended for us to live. We all feel, and exault in the feeling, that we were created in a sacred and holy temple. If you take that away from man there is nothing left in life that is worth while. Religion is meaningless. Our children and their children have as much right to this exaulted feeling as you and I. I think, where we fall down as mothers and teachers, through false modesty, we do not teach our young people the sacredness of their bodies. It has been said, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." I may be old fashion and scientifically wrong when I say that a radio, a hot water bottle, and a can of milk cannot take the place of a mother's warm heart and breast and her Christian lullabies. It may be old fashion to rock the cradle, but something else is rocking, and that's civilization. Then if it is true that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world, I say let's get back to rocking and not leave the training of the future generation to some one who is only interested in Saturday's pay check.

1913 TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY ....Greetings.... 1938

IT IS WITH a rare degree of pleasure that we send you greetings at the Holiday Season, not only because it marks the ending of this year, and the beginning of a New Year, but that we have completed twenty-five years of enjoyable service and association with our friends and customers.

These years which have brought increasing growth reflect the confidence and support our friends and customers have given us, and any feeling of achievement naturally turns our thoughts to those who have contributed to this progress.

It is but natural then that our Silver Anniversary should be an expression of appreciation.

Business without friendship would be an empty thing,--- and we count the friendliness you have shown with your patronage our most cherished asset.

We wish for you a most successful year during 1939, and hope it may bring you all of the things that contribute to your happiness and prosperity.

GRENADA HAS MADE GOOD—

Although there was a period of fear that Grenada would not decorate, for this holiday season, as extencively as in the past, it is gratifying to note that the residential section has done the best job on record. The same is probably true about some of the business places.

The previous comment in these columns regarding some of the earlier decorations that went up, was not only inspired by the attractive displays which were referred to, but was also intended to inspire Sother decorations which it was feared would be omitted this year.

With the great abundance of beautiful and attractive decorations now in place, the inability to mention and comment on them is a matter of deep regret.

Any person will enjoy coming to Grenada, driving over the city at night, and allowing their eyes to feast on the beautifully decorated homes. Mrs. G. S. Kent has strikingly presented the Wise Men.

SINGING OF CAROLS TRACED TO FRANCIS OF ASSISI IN 1200

By WILLIAM TYREE

TUCSON, Arizona. — When parties of carolers move thru the streets of the nation this Christmas Eve few will stop to wonder what started the practice, but Lew Adame, music director of the city recreation department here, has traced the history of the custom.

The tradition of heralding the Nativity with songs started 700 years ago, Adams believes, perhaps for the first time in the Italian village of Grecia near Assisi in the year 1200.

Adams said he has studied the revival of carol singing and has traced its background to find little is actually known of the origin.

"It is a curious fact but one well authenticated that Christmas was not among the earliest festivals of the church," Adams said. "Iranaeus and Tertullian omit it from their lists of feasts and Origen said that in the Scripture, sinners alone — not saints—celebrated their birthdays."

First evidence of the feast of Christmas comes from Egypt about the year 200 A.D., and after many changes in the time of year for celebrating the Nativity—some as late as May 20—the date decided upon by the church authorities was Dec. 25. In 1038, the term Christes Maessi was found. From this comes the English word Christmas.

Adams' research revealed that in Grecia the first carol was sung about the year 1200. Francis of Assisi made the first Christmas creche or crib fo represent the manger of the Christ Child, and the brethren gathered around and sang hymns.

In later years, Adams said, singing by the clergy was introduced between the scenes of mystery plays, and historical documents give information that the people enjoyed "these vocal interludes."

From these customs, according t Adams, it was only a step to the singing of carols apart from the mysteries and by the 15th century it was common practice to sing carols alone.

After the full meaning of the Christmas idea spread over all Europe, the English people made more of the carols than any others.

Adams said that for many years singing in the streets died, but that now he believes it is "coming back strong as ever."

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough, a chest cold, or a bronchial irritation of today may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by allaying irritation and inflammation and by aiding in loosening and expelling germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for generations recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist, for blending Creosote with other ingredients so that now in Creomulsion you get a good dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and may be taken frequently by both adults and children.

Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm. When coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles due to common colds hang on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your druggist, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained the druggist is authorized to refund your money. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

We're glad to see the New Year for a lot of reasons . . . but the best of all is that it's another opportunity to greet our friends again and wish them the best of everything in 1939.

Introducing a New President

After more than twelve years as president of the Illinois Central System I have taken over the duties of chairman of the board, and the duties of president have been assumed by J. L. Beven.

Mr. Beven is truly an Illinois Central man. He came from an Illinois Central family and started to work for the railroad at the age of twelve. He became a division officer before he was thirty, and he has now been on our general staff more than eighteen years. For the last eight years he has been senior vice-president.

As president Mr. Beven will speak for the Illinois Central System and will carry on our relations with the public which I have so greatly enjoyed.

To those who have shown their friendship for the Illinois Central System in many different ways during my service as president I express my deepest gratitude.

And to all our friends and patrons everywhere I send the best wishes of all of us at the Illinois Central System for a most Merry Christmas.
